Teltschiks Open Concert Season Tonight

ALFRED AND HERBERT TELTSCHIK

Double piano teams have a problem that is unique—that of building up an extensive, varied repertoire. And the Texas-born Teltschik brothers have done considerable about solving the problem.

The brothers, Alfred and Herbert, will show their solution to members of the Canyon Community Concert Association tonight in the Administration Building auditorium. The concert will be the first of the season for the association. Admission is by membership only.

In approaching the repertoire problem, duo-pianists have three choices. The most obvious is to add to their repertoire every known composition that has been written for two pianos.

The second is for the pianists to do their own arranging. As successful as this might be—and the Teltschiks have done a brilliant, imaginative job—it is a tedious job that takes valuable time.

The final approach is for the pianists to have their arranging done for them. But for all the stunning results that can be brought about, the Teltschiks point out that there are distinct limitations in commissioning composers to write expressly for them.

In the first place, composers who can write successfully are few and far between. For another, after the pianists select a particular composer for his style, they never know exactly what he will write.

Of course, they can suggest what they want, but they must wait and see. Whatever the result, be it inspiring or pedestrian, the pianists who commissioned the work might subsequently become identified with it almost as much as the composer.

The Teltschiks had their earliest musical training under their father, an old-world musician, in Floresville, Texas, where they were born. When the family moved to Houston, the boys continued their studies under Aldridge Kidd.

Later they entered the Julliard School of Music and studied under Mme. Olga Samaroff-Stokowski. After graduation, they returned to Houston, where they each got married, and then they began to teach piano in the city's public schools and in their own studio.

During World War II, the brothers were assigned to military orchestras, but because their special talents were recognized, they gave numerous two-piano recitals for the Armed Forces, thus gaining rich experience for the career they were to pursue.

Following the war, they began giving two-piano recitals in Houston. That started them off on the career which has given them success and popularity all over the United States and Canada.

The Teltschiks have encountered and solved the top occupational hazard in their field—the problem of finding two evenly-matched pianos in out of the way places. Simply, they provide their own instruments.

At first they pulled a trailer rigged for storing and carrying their pianos. They discovered, however, the method had its drawbacks. Hauling a trailer loaded with 4,000 pounds of precious pianos was dangerous. Further, they were not permitted to park in certain areas, and were often relegated to trailer camps.

They developed another idea. They bought a small school bus, removed its 14 seats and fitted the rear of it for their pianos. They take turns driving and have every possible comfort in the bus.

To help in practicing while away from Houston, the brothers take along two 88-key silent keyboards. They learned to tune and make minor repairs on their pianos to make themselves more independent logistically.

Ballot Has Top National, State Offices, 8 Proposed Amendments

Polls open Tuesday morning for the quadriennial general election that includes balloting for President and Vice President of the United States as well as for various state and county offices. The ballot this year will also include eight proposed amendments to the state constitution, and is one of the largest ballots offered voters in several years. Absentee balloting for the general election ends Friday, and those who wish to vote absentee must request the ballot before the end of that day. They may be obtained in the county clerk's office.

A special election for a ninth proposed amendment will be held Nov. 13, and absentee voting in that election ends Nov. 9.

Voting in Randall County will be held in the 13 voting precincts set up last fall by the commissioners court, and are the same as used in the two Democratic primaries last summer.

On the general election ballot, the candidates for the various offices are listed according to party.

Under the Democratic label are Adlai E. Stevenson and Estes Kefauver for President and Vice President; Martin Dies for Congressman-at-Large; Price Daniel for Governor; Ben Ramsey for Lieutenant Governor; Will Wilson for Attorney General; Meade F. Griffin for Associate Justice Supreme Court Place 1; Robert W. Calvert for Associate Justice Supreme Court Place 2; James R. Norvell for Associate Justice Supreme Court Place 3; W. A. Morrison, Judge of Court of Criminal Appeals; William J. Murray Jr. for Railroad Commissioner; Robert S. Calvert, Comptroller; Earl Rudder, Commissioner of General Land Office; Jesse James, Treasurer; John C. White, Commissioner of Agriculture; Alton B. Chapman, Associate Justice, Court of Civil Appeals; Walter Rogers, Congressman; A. R. Bivins, member of State Board of Education; Grady Hazlewood, State Senator; Ted B. Springer, State Representative; Aveat W. Lair, Criminal District Attorney; L. S. (Slim) Johnston, Sheriff; Bill Money, Tax Assessor-Collector; Bailie McCormick, Commissioner Precinct 1; and Glenn W. Dowlen, Commissioner Precinct 2.

Under the Republican label are Dwight D. Eisenhower and Richard M. Nixon for President and Vice President; William R. Bryan for Governor; Leo N. Duran for Attorney General; and Samuel F. Singleton for Commissioner of Agriculture.

Under the Constitution Party label are T. Coleman Andrews and Thomas H. Werdel for President and Vice President; Fred T. Spangler for Congressman-at-Large; John R. Anthony for Associate Justice Supreme Court Place 2; Joseph M. Rummler for Railroad Commissioner; E. G. Brown for Comptroller; and Bard A. Logan for Treasurer.

No names are listed under the Independent label. A fifth column is provided for write-in candidates.

In voting on the ballot, the voter may indicate his choice by placing a check mark beside the names shown or by scratching out all names shown except the candidate he favors.

In the section for the eight proposed amendments, the voter must mark out the statement he does not favor and leave the one he does. The amendments are:

No. 1, granting the legislature the right to give aid and compensation to persons who have paid fines or served prison sentences for offenses of which they were not guilty.

No. 2, authorizing the county commissioners to vary the percentages put in each of the four permanent county funds, but not changing the taxation limit.

No. 3, providing a method of payment for construction of permanent improvements at state colleges and allowing part of the Permanent School Fund to be invested in sound common stocks.

No. 4, allowing the legislature to revise the Teacher Retirement System and to broaden the benefits.

No. 5, adding an additional $100,000,000 to the Veterans Land Fund and changing the membership of the Veterans Land Board.

No. 6, changing the form of Oaths of Office for appointive officers.

No. 7, requiring medical testimony for commitment of persons of unsound mind and allowing the person the right to waive a jury trial.

No. 8, providing that bail may be denied to a person already convicted of two previous felonies.

The Junior Woman's Book Club will provide taxi and baby-sitting service to the polls next Tuesday for those who need the service. The club plans to pick up anyone who needs a ride to the polls and return them home following the voting.

Those who wish rides to the polls should call Mrs. T. S. Stevenson Jr., at OL 5-3131.

DUCK SEASON OPENS FRIDAY

AUSTIN—Prospects for the waterfowl season opening in Texas at one half hour before sunrise Friday were described as "promising" by H. D. Dodgen, executive secretary for the Game and Fish Commission.

He said the situation represented strange angles since the migrating duck and goose population "seems to be tremendous" but that the flocks may not be able to occupy many wintering areas because of fresh water shortage.

"The most acutely dry area now," said Dodgen, "is the Upper Texas Gulf Coast where unfortunately there is such a great concentration of hunters. If we can get some substantial rains right away, the incoming birds will stop at their old haunts because feed there is reported adequate."

He said "the back country hunter" apparently will get some breaks since recent rains filled up ponds, tanks and small streams "which are always irresistible to touring ducks and geese."

The duck and goose seasons open simultaneously this fall, with the 60 day goose season closing Dec. 31, while the duck shoot comprising 75 days continues through Jan. 15.

Regulations otherwise are identical with last year—five ducks a day, 10 in possession; five geese a day and five in possession; daily hunting from one half hour before sunrise to sunset.

The goose regulation stipulates that the daily possession limit "shall not contain more than two Canada geese, or its subspecies, or two whitefront geese, or one of each."

Request Parade Float Notices

Planning for the West Texas State College Homecoming parade on Nov. 17 is underway now, and chairmen of the various sections have been selected.

Organizations, businesses and school groups who plan to have floats in the parade are requested to notify the chairmen of the various sections before Nov. 15, Chamber of Commerce Manager Roland Black has announced.

Black is chairman of the commercial and civic club section. Lawrence Brotherton, principal of the junior high school, is chairman of the school, Boy Scout, Cub Scout and Girl Scout section. Wendell Cain, speech professor at the college, is in charge of the college section.

The parade is scheduled for 10:30 a. m. on the day of Homecoming.

Silas Hart Improving After Serious Illness

Silas Hart, owner of Hart's Appliance, was moved home from the hospital yesterday where he had been confined for the past two weeks. He is slowly improving and is up and about some.

Major Fred Hart of Weisbaden, Germany, was called home two weeks ago by the serious illness of his father. He plans to stay until Nov. 10.

Traffic Count Map Reflects Changes In Driving Habits of Area Residents

A new traffic count map for Randall County issued by the Highway Department shows some abrupt changes in the driving habits of the people of the area.

The biggest change shown on the map is a drop of more than 1,000 cars a day on the Amarillo-Canyon highway. Corresponding with that drop is an increase of nearly 900 in the number of cars using the Washington Street road to Amarillo.

The last available map of traffic counts that the county has is the map for 1953, before the Washington street road was paved. The new map is the average daily count during the year from Sept. 1, 1955, to Aug. 31, 1956.

Just north of the underpass, the new map shows an average of 8,010 cars a day. About a mile further north, the count is 7,960. At Western the county is 8,440 and at Georgia it is 7,980.

In 1953, the counts at the same places were: Immediately north of Canyon, 9,220; a mile further north, 9,140; at Western, 9,230; and at Georgia, 8,990.

The newly-paved road leading from Washington Street east to Claude shows a daily average use of 240 just east of Washington and 90 at the county line. In 1953, the use was 100 east of Washington and 25 at the county line.

Traffic on Highway 60 to Hereford is down slightly, also. The average daily use at Canyon is 3,560 as against 3,660 in 1953. At Umbarger the new count is 3,350 as compared with 3,500 in 1953. At the county line, the count for this year is 2,770 and the old count was 2,830.

Just south of Canyon on the Happy highway, the new daily average count is 4,170 and the count at Happy is 3,360. The old figures were 4,070 and 3,950.

On the Washington Street Road, the traffic count at the Palo Duro Highway intersection is 950 cars a day while the old count there was 100. At McCartts the new count is 1,240 and the old, 350. At the edge of Amarillo, the 1956 count is 1,710 and the old was 650.

At the east edge of Canyon on the Palo Duro Highway, the traffic count on the new map is 1,150 per day. At the Washington Street intersection the count is 990 and at the top of the canyon in Palo Duro State Park it is 210. In 1953, the count showed 650 east of Canyon, 410 at Washington and 150 at the canyon.

Use of the Buffalo Lake road from Umbarger to the lake has dropped from 920 in 1953 to 460 during the past year.

Bungart Infant Rites Conducted

Graveside rites for the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Elroy Bungart of Happy were conducted Tuesday morning in the Happy Catholic Cemetery by the Rev. B. J. Benversie, pastor of the Happy Catholic Church.

Burial was under direction of Warren-LaGrone Funeral Chapel.

The infant died at 5:30 p. m. Sunday in the Amarillo Osteopathic Hospital.

In addition to the parents, survivors include the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bungart, Eugene, Mo., and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Templeton, Henly, Mo.

Plan Meeting for Ground Observers

An organizational meeting for a Ground Observer Corps unit in Canyon is planned for Nov. 12 in the all-purpose room of the elementary school.

Speakers at the meeting will be Bob Roseberry, Potter,Randall Civil Defense director, and T. Sgt. William E. Swope of Amarillo, representative of the United States Air Force Ground Observer Corps.

Anyone interested in civil defense work is invited to the meeting. Especially invited are teen agers.

Lee Was Lucky—He Didn't Fight by Radio

Daily battles in a later-day civil war break out between radio operators in the sheriff offices of the High Plains and police radio operators in Vermont and New Hampshire.

For the past three weeks, broadcasts from this area have been breaking into broadcast up in that part of Yankee-land, while their transmissions make hearing difficult here.

At first, everyone thought the freakish reception would go away soon, it usually does. But after days of interrupted broadcasting, tempers shortened and often flared.

Operators in neither area will talk directly to the others, but the side comments are the common thing.

Like: One day the sheriff's office in Amarillo was trying to receive a long message from Tulia. Every time the Tulia operator got strung out, he would be interrupted by one in New Hampshire. "I wish that Yankee would keep his mouth shut," the Amarillo operator finally said. From then on, the New Hampshire operator talked about everything he could think of—he may have even read a little of the police regulations..

Or: The woman operator in New Hampshire who announced the other morning that she was going to close her station until later in the day when "those Rebels have shut up."

The outcome is fairly certain. One of these days the atmospheric conditions that cause the freakish reception will clear up, and the airways over the Panhandle will belong to us again.

These Had Fun Saturday Night

Riley Troth and Ed Williams face each other across a crowded table in the high school cafeteria during the P-TA Fall Festival Saturday night. Hundreds of parents and their children thronged the school to celebrate—and have a bite of supper. This little girl, dressed as a ghost, had a fine time playing peek-a-boo after she had finished her supper. Cecilia Waters was crowned queen of the festival at a coronation ceremony that climaxed the celebration. Some $1,300 will be split between the P-TA and the organizations sponsoring booths.

Open House for New Tax Office Building Set for Sunday Afternoon in Amarillo

The entire citizenship of Randall County has been invited to an open house of the new county tax office building in Amarillo Sunday afternoon.

The open house will be held from 2 to 5 p. m.

Completed during October, the new building will serve as headquarters for the branch tax office in Amarillo, offices for the sheriff's department and includes an office and courtroom for the justice of the peace.

The county commissioners said they hoped as many citizens as possible would inspect the new building during the open house. It is located in the 3800 block on Bowie. Ample paved parking space has been provided around the building.

Eagle Band Gets Marching Award

The Canyon High School Eagle Band was given a Class II rating for their performance in the Region XI Marching Contest in Buffalo Stadium Tuesday night.

The band performed against other AA bands of the region—those from Dimmitt, Tulia, Shamrock and Wellington.

Francisco Flores Services Held

Funeral mass for Francisco Flores, one of the first Latin-American citizens of Canyon, was said at 9 a. m. today by the Rev. William Hammonds, pastor of St. Ann's Catholic Church.

Burial was in Dreamland Cemetery under direction of Warren-LaGrone Funeral Chapel.

Mr. Flores, 85, died at 1:20 p. m. Monday at his home in Canyon. He was a member of St. Ann's Church.

Mr. Flores had lived in Canyon for the past 25 years. There were no known survivors.

Plan Mule Meat Feed for CHS Exes

Canyon High School's Eagles are hoping to serve their ex-students a dish of Mule meat Friday night in Buffalo Stadium when they meet Muleshoe in a District 1-AA Homecoming football game.

To help entertain the exes, the football queen will be crowned at 7:45 p.m. by Tommy Davis, student council president.

A dance will climax the homecoming festivities, which start tomorrow night with a bonfire on a lot west of the high school.

All during Friday, exes are urged to visit the high school, register and look around. Registration tables will also be set up at the game and at the dance in the school.

The bonfire will be lit at 7 p. m. Exes and students are asked to be at the pep rally.

Candidates for the queen are Lynn Atkinson, Mary Sue Bolton and Marcus Robinson. The three were nominated by the football team and will be selected by the team.

Looking toward the game with Muleshoe, Coach Guy Harrison said it is hard for him to evaluate the Mules. "They came within one point of tying the fourth-rated team in the region, then they turn around and get beat by a team that nobody rated anywhere," he said.

Muleshoe was beaten 7-6 by Olton on Oct. 19, and last week was beaten 20-7 by Dalhart.

"Our scout report on the Dalhart game shows Muleshoe had a lot more than the score indicated, but it never did seem to materialize," Harrison said. "The fullback and right halfback seem to be the two most dangerous backs."

Listed at fullback is Bill Black at 170 pounds and the right half is John Young, 145.

At the start of the season, Muleshoe belted Portales 38-0, with Young and Black scoring two each and quarterback Dick Johnson, 145, making the fifth and Darrell Oliver making the sixth.

Next, Muleshoe beat Sudan 20-19, with Black making two and Young one. Muleshoe beat Morton 7-0 and Black made that score.

Springlake stopped Muleshoe 19-14, and Young made both of the Mule scores. Going against Hale Center, the Mules lost 41-34. Black made one touchdown, Leroy Corralez and Johnson, two.

Losing to Olton, Johnson went over for the single score. Against Dalhart, Black made the single touchdown.

Against Dalhart, Muleshoe made 188 yards rushing against 247 for Dalhart. Muleshoe completed one of eight passes for 20 yards.

Coach Harrison said Muleshoe is not a predominantly passing team this season, but has thrown quite a few quick passes to ends in the flats for short yardages.

Canyon isn't doing too badly in the season, though. Sporting a 5-win, 2-loss record, the Eagles have added up 201 points to 70 for their opponents—the best record in the district. Carrying the ball 360 times from scrimmage, the Canyon backfield has totaled 1,905 yards—an average of 5.3 yards per carry. Their opponents have made 1,087 yards on the ground.

The Eagles have thrown 51 passes and completed 16 for 271 yards. Their opponents have thrown 64, completed 19 and made 306 yards.

Don Britain is the second leading scorer in the region with 71 points. (Dan Pearson of Perryton is first with 72.) Harlie Adams is third with 66.

Their positions are reversed on yards made rushing, and both are probably leading the region, although full statistics are not available. Adams had 728 yards in 119 carries and Britain has 551 in 93 carries.

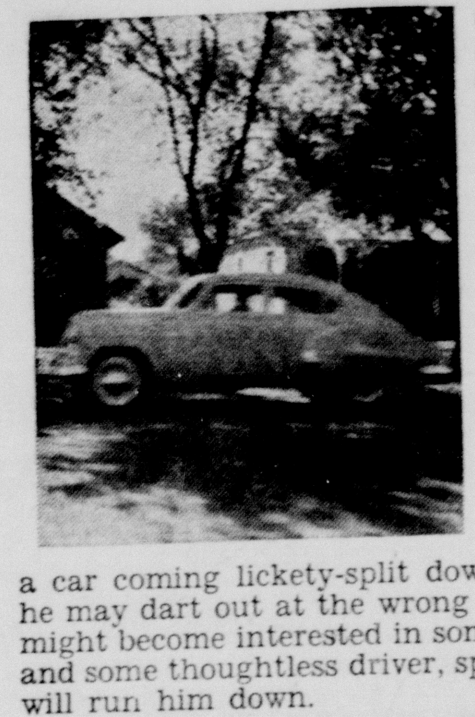
Safety.

Look at the word from any direction. It's simple and stays that way. It's been used so many, many times that it has little meaning. When we see it we are prone to skip over anything that follows.

Certainly we don't consciously think of the word and its implications when we pick up a knife and start to peel an apple or a potato. We don't bother with it at all when we sit under the wheel of our cars.

Oh, we read about deaths on the highway, and rail against the drivers license law when the one killed is a teen-ager riding in a car driven by a 14-year-old driver. We sit over our coffee and speculate on how fast the youngster was driving when the accident occurred. And probably the one who does the loudest speculating is the one who drives the fastest out on the road.



Sure, we accidentally see that 206 people were killed last month in Texas and another 2,988 were injured, but so what, it won't happen in Canyon. We don't have many wrecks here. Just one every once in a while, and they don't amount to much.

Probably the only time most of us think of safety, and think consciously of it, is when children are involved. We try to keep an eye out for the boy when he picks up a kitchen knife. We caution him to be careful—we watch to see that he is.

We're worried when he's young and just learning to cross the street by himself. We're afraid he may not see a car coming lickety-split down the street. We're afraid he may dart out at the wrong time. We're afraid that he might become interested in something else as he's crossing, and some thoughtless driver, speeding along unconsciously, will run him down.

We're worried about our older children, too. The ones who are up in the third or fourth or fifth grades. They ride their bicycles to schools. We think of their safety. Yessir, we're worried that some thoughtless driver might ram into the boy on his bicycle.

We think about safety a lot, while our own children are out and using the streets and we are sitting at home.

But just let us get our children in our own car and do a little driving on our own. See about how much safety you think about then.

The mother who is most worried about her children being hit is often the fastest and most reckless driver in sight. The father who lectures his children the most about being careful when crossing streets is likely to be the one who makes it most dangerous for children.

It's not because they intend to do damage. It's not because they forget about the children, or the other drvier. No, those people keep a close watch for playing children, for other cars, for pedestrians.

They've got an eye out, all right, but they're driving so fast they can't do anything about it until it's too late.

In Canyon the speed limit is 25 miles an hour. The speed limit in most cities, at least in residential and busy areas, is only five miles an hour faster.

Yet, here at home, about the only time any of us drive at 25 or less is when we're just starting out, or when we get behind a slow-pokey, dawdling driver.

Fourth Avenue from the highway to the square is a miniature Indianapolis Speedway. If you don't believe that statement, stand at the Methodist Church some day and watch.

Eighth Avenue, the street that at least half of the children in elementary school must cross, is another race track. Some of the worst speeders on that street are mothers going to the school to pick up their own children. If you don't believe that statement, just go watch for yourself.

Here's a little something to keep in mind. When driving 25 miles an hour, you are traveling 37 feet per second. If you have to stop suddenly, disregarding the distance you travel while reacting, you will travel 33 feet after you've put on your brakes.

At 30 miles an hour, you travel 50 feet while stopping. At 35 it takes 68 feet; at 40, it takes 90 feet; and at 50, it takes 145 feet, about half a block. Those are the stopping distances on the kind of paved streets we have in Canyon.

On the other hand, if you are moving along at 15 miles an hour, the legal speed limit for school zones, you can stop your car in 12 feet—that is after you've put on your brakes. At 20 miles an hour it takes 24 feet.

When the pavement is wet, and we hope that there'll be rain and snow this winter to make the pavement wet, the distances needed for stopping jump quite a bit, especially at the higher speeds.

At 30 miles an hour, it takes 60 feet and at 35 it takes 90 feet on wet pavement. I'm afraid that most of us travel at speeds between 30 and 35 miles an hour much of the time. I know I do, and plenty of cars drive on my tail and some even pass me.

I'm going to try to remember to slow down. I hope everyone else does, too. We all should try to remember the word "safety." I hope we can put it to work.

It's only a week until voting time. Absentee voting is already underway for both the general election and for the special election on proposed amendment No. 9 to the state constitution.

Don't neglect your privilege and duty. Be sure to vote in both elections. If you won't be in your home county on Nov. 6 or Nov. 13, vote absentee in the election you will miss.

The ballot for the general election carries the candidates for the national offices, state offices and the county offices. In addition there are eight proposed amendments to the state constitution.

It won't cost a thing to go cast your ballot except a little time. If you are eligible to vote, you have already spent the slight sum it takes to become eligible. Just go to the polls and mark up the ballot the way you believe.

Dear Editor:

As we see by the letters and ads in your paper praising one bunch and running down the other side, let's just get something straightened out about who is misguided. Especially about their belief in a supreme being, but his name is not Eisenhower. So let us enumerate some of their deeds or misdeeds.

First of all, what great super being gave diplomatic recognition to the most murderous, low-down regime ever spawned on this earth—the Commies of Russia. Also, who said in the thirties, "What do we care for future generations just so we have a good time now."

As future events proved, they had the same ideas with our sons' blood and lives. Next we come to the most shameful deed of the First (?) Lady sitting next to and giving consolation to a bunch of Commie traitors who were up for a hearing before the Un-American Activities committee. She made it look like Martin Dies was the Un-American. Great, isn't it?

Then the dastardly engineered slaughter at Pearl Harbor. To accomplish it, that great supreme being had to kick the then commander of the Pacific Fleet upstairs for he would not set it up as a sitting-duck target and he told the demigod to his face. Also, there were eight hours to warn our men about that attack. Why weren't they warned?

The excuse was the broken Japanese code. Our men had no use for that code, for when you are running and have no place to run, a code—broken or otherwise—doesn't help you any. And run is all we did for the next 2½ years.

So thousands of mothers' sons were slaughtered. For what?

Then the contemptible sellout to the slavery of Poland, all the Baltic countries, the Balkan, China, East Germany and several other countries. Great deeds for the supreme being.

And now comes the era of "Thou shalt have no other God before, after, below, behind or above me of red herring fame."

They never had it so good (the commies), which he shouted at every whistle stop while they had access to our secret war plants and all others, while we furnished them Russian-speaking guides explaining all of our know-how to them. We gave them paper and pencil, too.

Then the great police action in Korea, which cost us more lives than World War I. Next, the greatest stupidity of all times, ordering our men north to the Yalu clad in summer clothes, the temperature 30 degrees below zero, armed with five-shot bolt action rifles and five-gallon gas cans for anti-tank weapons. Efficient, eh?

While all this was taking place and thousands of mothers were grieving, that supreme being was at home letting his lily-white fingers slide over the piano keyboard and singing, "They Never Had It So Good." How about it, mothers and fathers?

To stop all this bloody and gory uselessness, a plain "human" being had to go over there to put an end to it—the thing that a super great being could not or would not end. Is it any wonder then that the once gay and happy donkey is standing listlessly and is loaded down with the Russian bear astride of him, the hammer and sickle tied to his dragging tail, the grape juice man's favorite son trying to lead him on? (87 votes from across the border).

So, mister, I am wondering who Barnum meant. Don't you?

A father with both of his sons in the Armed Forces.

Dear Editor:

Gather in close now, dear voter.
Don't stand off so far.
And I'll tell you a story
Of a Democrat war.
T'was up on old Wall Street
That I heard someone holler,
Because stocks had gone down
And he had lost an old dollar.
While out in Korea a soldier boy lay,
Praying to Heaven, war might end that day.
He was wondering why we had to have war.
But no one seemed to know
What he was there fighting for.
While far 'cross the ocean, asleep and serene,
Was his little son, that he had never seen.
And a letter had come from his dear wife that day,
It said "Your old mother has now passed away."
He had lost his best buddy just the night before,
He saw him die there, in the mud, in the gore.
Now he was wounded and weary, even too tired to weep.
Just sat there a'staring at his half frozen feet.
Then a chaplain happening along that way
Heard his sad story, said, "Son, let us pray."
So there in the mud, while shells screamed overhead,
He prayed for those buddies, the dying, the dead.
Above the roar of the plane and the sighing of men,
He prayed, "Dear God up in Heaven, let's have peace once again."
But, back 'cross the ocean is one more wife left to weep,
How she cries, how she sobs, while the little one sleeps.
Then up on old Wall Street, I heard a whoop and a holler.
Stocks had gone up, they had made one more dollar.
When you think more of the dollars,
Than those sons that had fell,
I'll tell you, Brother,
"You are heading for Hell."
Old Bloody Korea, the old Truman war,
When our sons fought and died,
But they knew not what for.
Old Bloody Korea,
I hear those dear mothers moan,
As they yearn for a boy,
That will never come home.
Do you want another Korea with our sons out there dying,
While the glutton at home are a'wineing and dining?
Do you want another Korea
To kill off our manhood?
There, there, dear brother,
I didn't think you would.
That's why I'll stick to Ike,
For I'm convinced, don't you see,
He will give his ALL to keep the peace,
And give us ALL security.
This is a sad, but true, story,
But take my advice,
Before you vote for "Mr. Adlai,"
Please, voter, think twice.

Dear Editor:

I am disappointed in you. A man who will allow scurrilous and derogatory remarks to be published in a paper of which he is editor should back up and take a new start in life.

[illegible] warning you that it had better not happen again. The next underhanded blast won't be taken with a grain of salt. So, Mr. B. C., just watch your corners, lest your "boy friend" get you into some hot water you may wish you hadn't gotten into.

This is a free country, and a person's political and religious beliefs and convictions are strictly their own business.

To call me a "fool" even if I was a Republican, to use G. S.'s own words, "is the height of human folly;" so is the statement that I put our President above God Almighty. Nothing could be further from the truth.

Sincerely yours,

W. R. BOB SMITH CHAIRMAN

You are a free Texan . . . You can vote any way you like. Regardless of what you may have heard, it is perfectly legal to split your ticket if you want to, just as it is legal to vote the Democratic ticket straight, or the Republican ticket straight. The purpose of the ballot is to determine what the people want. And if you want to vote for Eisenhower and Nixon — then cast the rest of your ballot for the Democratic nominees — that is your privilege. Don't let anyone tell you otherwise! BY LAW YOUR VOTE MUST BE COUNTED.

Fairview Breezes

We have been having lots of wind and are very dry.

Visitors at church Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Orville Watson and son from Petersburg and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hall Sr. and Peggy of Lockney.

Almost everyone from Fairview turned out for the football game Friday evening between the Cowboys and Lazbuddie. Since it was Parents Night almost all the parents of the players were present.

Mrs. June Foster had a large crowd at her crafts party Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sutton, and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Wesley were in Canyon Saturday.

Max Barnard was moved from the hospital to his home Tuesday.

Those enjoying "88" in the G. E. Wesley home Tuesday and Saturday evening were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rogers and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Wesley.

Friday at 2:30 p. m. the home demonstration club will meet with Mrs. Charles Wilson.

The Johnstons have been having a lot of car trouble and were unable to come to church last Sunday.

Gordon Foster and Woodrow Wesley have been hauling bundles for Woodrow and Jack Langford from near Tulia.

Lavena Amerson visited her sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Coye Elkins, at Tulia last Sunday. She attended church services there.

Bettie Patterson visited the paternal John Patterson home over the weekend. She works at one of the beauty shops in Canyon.

Mrs. Buster Poston of Laramie, Wyo., visited her parents, the Chas. Suttons, from Sunday to Tuesday two weeks ago.

Our attendance was up Sunday as we had 30 out for church services.

General Semantics Discussed at Meet

The subject for the Woman's Book Club program for their meeting on Oct. 24 was General Semantics. Mrs. James P. Cornette gave an introduction to General Semantics, and Mrs. Joseph Findley some current applications of semantic principles.

In the absence of the president, Mrs. K. E. Frieze, vice president, presided over a short business session. Included in the committee reports was a report brought by Mrs. Lee Foster, Federation councilor, on news of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs.

Present at the meeting were Mrs. Alfred Bellah, Mrs. C. R. Burrow, Mrs. Ray Campbell, Mrs. H. C. Campfield, Mrs. Cornette, Mrs. S. H. Condron, Mrs. John Davis, Mrs. Lon Fanning, Mrs. Findley, Mrs. Foster, Mrs. Frieze, Miss Edna Graham, Mrs. Walter Graham, Mrs. CharlesHarter.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION

THE STATE OF TEXAS

TO: FRANK HINGLEY, Defendant, Greeting:

YOU ARE HEREBY COMMANDED to appear before the Honorable 47th Judicial District Court of Randall County at the Courthouse thereof, in Canyon, Texas, by filing a written answer at or before 10 o'clock A. M. of the first Monday next after the expiration of forty-two days from the date of the issuance of this citation, same being the 10th day of December, A. D. 1956, to Plaintiff's Petition filed in said court, on the 18th day of October, A. D. 1956, in this cause, numbered 3218 on the docket of said court and styled BESSIE CANTRELL HINGLEY, Plaintiff, vs. FRANK HINGLEY, Defendant.

A brief statement of the nature of this suit is as follows, to-wit: a suit for annulment as is more fully shown by Plaintiff's Petition on file in this suit.

If this citation is not served within ninety days after the date of its issuance, it shall be returned unserved.

The officer executing this writ shall promptly serve the same according to requirements of law, and the mandates hereof, and make due return as the law directs.

Issued and given under my hand and the seal of said court at Canyon, Texas, this the 22nd day of October, A. D. 1956.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

OUR SOIL ★ OUR STRENGTH

Dusty days are ahead. The winter and spring of 1956-57 will be a dusty one if present conditions continue as they are. It's one of the driest falls that many folks can remember. That's the unhappy report of many Soil Conservation Service offices in the area.

It probably won't make any difference which way the wind blows from, either. Bare fields, dry planted to wheat or awaiting planting, spot the plains area. Furthermore, the residues that normally protect the land from sorghum crops and wheat are, in most cases, inadequate this year except where the land has been irrigated.

There is a happy note in this rather unhappy situation. The farmers in the Panhandle have done, for the most part, a fine job in the last few drouth years in fighting wind erosion, according to Allen King, area conservationist of the SCS. We know they'll be in there pitching again this year too, he reports.

If they hadn't we'd have had conditions as bad as the "dirty thirties" the last few years. Soil Conservationist points out that farmers are highly mechanized now.

They are employing tillage methods which leave the land rough and cloddy when necessary due to ack of adequate residues. Stubble mulching of good wheat and close spaced sorghums residues complete the picture in combatting wind erosion.

Farmers haven't made good crops generally on dryland in a number of years. King reports some report no profitable crops in three to five years and more. The economic status of many dryland farmers is not too good.

If this is a normal season in wind and with conditions as they are, farmers are gonig to need plenty of moral and economic support, he continued. Some of the new programs of the U. S. Department of Agriculture are aimed at helping this situation.

Local SCS, ASC and FHA offices are open for advice and help. These programs, coupled with the faith of farmers and business men in the area, should see us through.

There's just one more thought. Everybody in Texas believes it'll rain one of these days. When it does, it always helps.

Neil Cummings Killed in Japan

Neil Cummings, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Cummings of Olney and nephew of E. T. Cummings of Canyon, was killed Oct. 14 in Tokyo, Japan. He was in the service.

His body was shipped to Olney and the funeral was held Oct. 24 in the First Methodist Church. Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Cummings attended the service.

Mrs. A. D. Cummings was Rose Stewart, daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. D. M. Stewart.

A man whose normal weight is 150 pounds would weigh about 50 pounds if all the water in his system were dried up.

TEXANS
Remember the Tidelands

Here's What President Eisenhower
DID in 1953:
He signed the bill as he promised in 1952 to restore the tidelands to Texas.

Here's What Adlai Stevenson
SAID in 1952:
That he would veto the Tidelands Bill.

Here's What Adlai
SAID September 18, 1956:
"I would think the matter is closed." (Does any Texas voter consider that a positive statement?)

Here's What Estes Kefauver
SAID September 22, 1956:
"Among the Administration actions listed by Kefauver as against the "little people" was support of legislation which gave the oil tidelands to the states. He charged that Mr. Eisenhower was 'paying off a campaign debt' when he came out in support of state ownership of tidelands."—HOUSTON POST. (Does any Texas voter believe Kefauver considers the matter closed?)

Could The "Little People" Be The 1,852,984 School Children of Texas
Who have benefitted by $1.5 million in interest added to the Available School Fund from the $50,297,516 collected on oil leases of the Tidelands since President Eisenhower signed the Tidelands Bill May 22, 1953?

United Church Women Observe Special World Community Day Here Friday

Canyon church women will observe Friday as World Community Day beginning at 11:30 a. m. in the First Methodist Church, sponsored by United Church Women, a general department of the National Council of Churches.

They have chosen as their theme and the underlying motif of study the passage from Romans 9:3, "For the sake of my brethren, my kinsmen." Their special study will be devoted to the United Nations' Universal Declaration of Human Rights and the two draft covenants.

Participating churches are gathering clothing to be sent to Church World Service for distribution. The packages of clothing will be dedicated at the meeting.

Included on the program will be a discussion of the Declaration of Human Rights by Edna Graham.

A covered dish luncheon will be served.

Variety Ring Will Meet With Mrs. Cox

The Variety Ring will meet with Mrs. G. W. Cox on Nov. 1 instead of the announced place, with Mrs. Earl Burtz. All members are requested to note this change.

Forensics Squad Gets 'Excellent'

A forensics squad, formed for the first time since the 1930's at West Texas State College, won two "excellent" certificates for participation in a festival of debates and discussions at Texas Tech last Friday.

Coached by Loyd Farr, instructor in speech, the squad plans to begin debate practice this week, preparing for debate and discussion tournaments slated in the spring.

Three students, accompanied by Farr, attended the Lubbock meet. They were Bette Johnston of Borger, Avalon Brown of Canyon and Bill Graham of Amarillo.

AAUW General Meet Slated Saturday

The November general meeting of the Canyon branch of the AAUW will be a luncheon in the Blue Room of the college cafeteria at 1 p. m. Saturday. Members may make reservations with Mrs. Clay Cooper and Elizabeth Cox until Friday noon.

Mrs. Mattie Swayne Mack, first vice president of the branch, will report on the convention of the International Federation of University Women, which she attended in Paris last summer.

Representatives of two newly-organized branches of AAUW, at Perryton and Muleshoe, have been invited to the general meeting.

The IFUW is made up of the AAUW in the United States and similar organizations in other countries. Some of its most important purposes are the exchange of women fellowship students and of information about the problems of education for women in all member countries.

The first study meeting of the month will be of the drama group at the home of Mrs. Harry Ball at 7:30 p. m. Monday. The program will be a reading of "The Solid Gold Cadillac."

Junior Book Club Has International Supper

The Junior Woman's Book Club enjoyed an International Costume Supper Oct. 23 in the home of Mrs. Lindsey Taylor.

Wearing costumes of many nations of the world, the members sampled such exotic foods as Puerto Rican roast, Italian spaghetti, Russian potato salad, Creole beans, Mexican guacamole, Swedish rolls, and French and Russian pastries.

Mrs. Murphy White, dressed as a French Apache dancer, won the prize for the best costume.

All members boarded the "SS International Understanding" for a world tour to other countries and Federated Women's Clubs, noting dominant religions in various nations.

Present were Mrs. W. J. Wooten Jr., Mrs. Tom Lair, Mrs. Kenneth Erwin, Mrs. Harold Erwin, Mrs. Dudley Moore, Mrs. Don Standley, Mrs. Richmond Hales, Mrs. Avent Lair, Mrs. Albert Craig, Mrs. Murphy White, Mrs. R. B. Gist Jr., Mrs. Riley Troth, Mrs. Roland Black, Mrs. Bruce Winn, Mrs. Truett Hull, Mrs. Bob Bellah, Mrs. J. C. Bellah, Mrs. D. C. Gamble, Mrs. Lindsey Taylor, Mrs. T. S. By MRS. CLYDE W. WARWICK

Tuesday, Nov. 6, is the day we as Americans have the privilege of expressing our opinion on running the government of our country with our vote. By now you should have informed yourself and be able to use that vote intelligently.

There are two amendments that affect all of us: Amendments 3 and 4. No. 4 will help provide an improved Teacher Retirement System that will attract desirable young people to teaching and hold in service experienced teachers. There is no more vital question before the people today than the teaching of our children.

No. 3 will help build more state colleges and universities without added taxes. You can, by voting for Amendment 3, give youngsters a better opportunity for higher education with no additional taxes, by providing them with classrooms and laboratories.

Loula Grace Erdman's latest book, The Wide Horizon, is the story of a pioneer family of the Texas Panhandle. The author takes the Pierce family again who were pictured in her book, The Wind Blows Free. This time it is Katie, the second daughter of the family, who has the lead.

It is interesting to see Loula Grace develop in one family three such entirely different sisters as Melinda, Katie and Carolyn, each with a strong, vital character.

Interesting, too, to see how she brings Katie to lose her timidity and self-consciousness in forgetting herself, thinking of others and in serving those she loves and those whose lives contact hers.

This lesson was first brought home to Katie when Mr. Palmer, the new teacher of their country school, needed help and Katie gave it to him. She would always be happy in remembering that "She, Katie Pierce, who had always been scared of everything, had been the one to help Mr. Palmer this first hard day at school. Some way, that seemed more important, more satisfying, that that she herself do well."

Loula Grace knows the problems and difficulties of the Panhandle pioneer well. The Pierce's like many a pioneer family had to borrow water when they first homesteaded and it was difficult for this family to ask favors. Mr. Pierce gives this bit of true philosophy when he tells his family, "It is easier for them to give than it is for us to ask."

Just as Katie nearly stole the show from Melinda in The Wind Blows Free, so now Carolyn in The Wide Horizon, which is Katie's book, nearly steals the show from Katie. Carolyn is, perhaps, the strongest, at any rate the most self-sufficient and interesting of the three sisters and we feel sure she will have a book of her own soon, we hope.

One thing Loula Grace speaks of several times is Vinegar pie. She makes it sound so good I wanted to try it. Loula Grace is at this time in New York City hobnobbing with her publishers so I tried several of the pioneer women of Canyon.

All had eaten vinegar pie. Mrs. W. W. Bennett said she had made many of them but all had forgotten how to make one. Then Mrs. M. H. Rockwell found a recipe in an old cook-book called "Housekeeper's Handy Book," which, with her help we worked out the following recipe which we both think is good.

⅓ cup vinegar
1 cup sugar
1 cup water
1 Ts butter — bring these to a boil
3 egg yolks — use three small eggs or two large eggs.
½ cup water
2 heaping Ts flour
2 Ts sugar taken from the 1 cup above.

Mix these well and add to boiling mixture. Cook until thick and clear. Pour in baked pie crust. Make merinque of egg whites. Add 1 ts lemon extract to merinque. Top pie with this and bake at 325 degrees for 15 or 20 minutes.

This old-fashioned recipe reminded me of one day when we were eating at one of the cafes and across from us were Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Harden. Hot biscuits were served and the Hardens broke theirs open, spread them with butter and then poured sugar over them. It had been a long time since I had thought of this. I tried it and found it as good as it was when I was a child. Made me want to dip my gum in the sugar bowl once more. I wonder if children today ever do that. Mrs. Harden says she has taught half of the children of the Baptist church to eat this. She also said that she is troubled with indigestion and that a teaspoonful of honey will always stop her indigestion.

Another old fashioned dish we have always liked is what we called Yankee pie. We didn't know the word was Dammyankee until we moved to Texas. Take hot corn bread, split it open, spread it with butter and then pour molasses over it.

There was a time when children looked forward to finding a "Pot of Gold" at the end of the rainbow. Not any more! Wtih TV programs offering prizes of $64,000, $100,000 and $250,000, what child would be foolish enough to look to a rainbow?

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Barker are proud grandparents now. Their granddaughter, Dee Anne Singleton, is the daughter of Sgt. and Mrs. J. Don Singleton. Sgt. Singleton is with the Army in Timberton, N. J. Mrs. Barker is with her daughter and family. The mother is Anna Marie, oldest daughter of the Barkers.

H. R. Fulton Jr., who is blessed with a very green thumb, tried out something about a year ago. He put an African Violet in a large fish bowl packed "Black Magic Planter Mix" around it, put an old record on top of the bowl and an ash tray on top of the hole in the record, watered it good and has only watered it once since then. Now the violet has grown until there are six violet plants in the bowl. Leaves that have fallen to the bottom of the bowl have taken root and put up new plants.

One leaf lies on the bottom with its roots growing straight up in the air. Just goes to show that African Violets do best with the least attention. The record H. R. covered the bowl with might have something to do with this. The record has on one side, "Not for Sale" and "That Ain't in Any Catalogue," on the other side it has "I Got My First Kiss Last Night."

Mrs. Annie Marie Bennett celebrated her 82nd birthday Sunday, Oct. 21, at her home at 2001 Ninth Avenue. Three of her children and their families were with her. Her son, Clyde Bennett, Mrs. Bennett and their five children from Panhandle. Her daughter, Mrs. Frank Metcalf, Mr. Metcalf and their daughter from Panhandle; her son, Milton Bennett, Mrs. Bennett and their daughter from Des Moines, N. M.; her granddaughter, Mrs. Jim Gobels of Amarillo. Mrs. Bennett said she had a wonderful day, but wished she could have turned the years around. She would have liked 28 better than 82.

At last it has been satisfactorily proved that Marlowe did not write Shakespeare's plays, but one more foolish than all the other claims to disprove Shakespeare as author of his plays has shown up. It seems that some Englishman has discovered that George Bernard Shaw wrote the plays! And here is his proof. If you take the fourth letter from the end of the titles of 11 of Shakespeare's plays you get Bernard Shaw. Here are the 11.

MacBeth
Julius CaEsar
Two Gentlemen of VeRona
The Merchant of VeNice
Coriol Anus
Comedy of ErRors
Merry Wives of WinDsor

Measure for MeaSure
Taming of the SHrew
Anthony and CleopAtra
All's Well That Ends Well

All that has to be done now is prove Shaw was born 300 years before his birth certificate says he was. Why do they keep trying to prove Shakespeare did not write his plays? It is said he was so different from the man it must have taken to have written these plays. But Shakespeare is not the only person with two distinct personalities, one for the public and one for strictly private use. Someone put it this way: I am my own and howsoever near my friend may draw unto my soul, there is a legend drawn across a certain straight and narrow door, says, Dear, my friend, ye cannot enter here. And so it could have been with Shakespeare.

Tex Says He's No Expert But He Believes Ike Is

The other night a bunch of us were sitting around in the drug store after the football game, drinking coffee and talking. You know how it is after a game in a small town, especially after the home team loses. Nearly every man in the crowd had a theory as to why we didn't win the game. Most of them, of course, blamed the coach. I couldn't help remembering that before we consolidated the county schools we didn't even have enough boys to make up a football team. And these same football experts who were saying what Rockne or Bud Wilkinson would have done, up until a few years ago they didn't know a football from a watermelon.

But that's the way it is in a small town (and in big ones, too, I understand). I guess there's no real harm done, although sometimes it's pretty rough on the coach.

I guess we have a right, in this free country, to be self-appointed experts in any line we want to pick out. It seems to me that most people choose either football or politics.

Take this presidential election coming up next Tuesday: During the last few weeks I have heard so many stories and theories from so many different political experts that I nearly get confused sometimes. I have to stop and think that the fellow who is talking probably doesn't know any more about it than I do, and that helps me keep straightened out.

In fact, I guess I have had my mind made up all along. To make no bones about it, I like Ike. He's a man you can always look up to and respect—the kind of man you'd be proud to point out to any person, from any country on the face of the globe, and say: "That's our President!"

About Adlai, now, I'm not so sure. Of course, if he was elected, he would be my President, too, and I would hope he'd do a lot better than most people around here seem to think he would. This is something I don't think we need to worry about, because from all I can hear and read, Ike is going to win it again.

It seems to me that if Adlai ever had a chance around here, he threw it away when he came out with that H-bomb business. Now, the folks in our town don't know much about H-bombs, except that they don't want any personal dealings with them. Our scientific knowledge of H-bombs is about on a par with our football knowledge, I reckon. But we do know one thing: We don't want some misguided, inexperienced fellow fooling around with our national defense. When it comes to trusting what Bulganin says or what Eisenhower says, I'll take Ike. So will the rest of the country, if I don't miss my guess.

Just before we broke up the other night Doc Brown came into the drug store, and somebody asked him: "Hey, Doc, how's Ike doin'?" (Doc's a big Eisenhower man.) Doc said: "Well, it's a busy campaign for the medical profession. Last week Ike went and got his heart examined; and I understand that this week Adlai is going to get his head examined."

Yours truly,
Tex

Good Cows, Feed Make for Profits

COLLEGE STATION — Without good producing cows, well fed on good quality roughages, the prospects for developing a profitable dairy herd are small indeed, say Extension Dairy Husbandman R. E. Burleson and A. M. Meekma.

Texas dairymen, they say, will not have good producing cows until they keep and use production records; use well bred sires and raise and develop their own herd replacements.

Their herds will not be well fed on top quality roughages, point out the specialists, until dairymen adopt a feed reserve plan or program built around a 2 to 3-year supply of silage; produce or buy during harvest season at least one year's supply of hay and make full use of permanent and temporary pastures.

The specialists cite recently released USDA figures to emphasize their points. The average dairy cow in California produces 8,550 pounds of milk and does it on 1,990 pounds of concentrates plus roughage.

The average dairy cow in Texas produces 3,800 pounds of milk and is fed 1,740 pounds of concentrates. California dairymen are getting 4.3 pounds of milk for each pound of concentrate fed as compared with 2.3 pounds in Texas.

Nevada dairymen on the other hand are feeding only 1,100 pounds of concentrate and getting 5.9 pounds of milk for each pound of concentrate fed. These dairymen, say the specialists, are doing the best job in the nation in feeding roughages.

The practices listed by the dairy husbandmen are those most urgently needed for improving the average Texas dairy operation. The specialists say that many of the state's 9,000 grade A dairymen are following these practices and despite the prolonged drouth are making some money and progress.

But they point out, Texas will not become a great dairy state until individual dairymen follow a sound program.

It breaks through the vibration barrier
It is swept-wing mastery of motion

SWEPT·WING '57 Dodge

How do you describe a car so daring in concept, so revolutionary in features and advances, so rewarding in beauty and performance?

How do you explain its newness when everything about it is new?

On display today is just such a car—the Swept-Wing '57 Dodge that steps you into the wonderful world of Autodynamics.

What is this wonderful world of Autodynamics? It is a world where everything is new from road to roof to achieve absolute mastery of motion.

Here's what it does in the Swept-Wing Dodge:

- It unleashes a hurricane of power from a thundering new aircraft-type Super Red Ram V-8 engine that's a spitfire in action!
- It tames a tornado of torque with a new TorqueFlite Push-Button Drive for the greatest get-away on the road!
- It breaks through the vibration barrier with a revolutionary new rubber-mounted suspension system—Dodge Torsion-Aire—that features race car torsion-bars. You ride in a "Realm of Silence," isolated from vibration, noise and road shock.
- It is swept-wing mastery of motion in a sleek, low-slung beauty barely 4½ feet high that has no equal in the way it corners, handles and rides.

You have never seen, felt or owned any car that compared with this new Swept-Wing Dodge. See and drive it today . . . now at your Dodge dealer's!

Eagles Swamp Dimmitt 'Cats, 33-6, In Second District 1-AA Victory

Keeping the opposition scoreless until late in the fourth quarter, the Canyon Eagles won their second district 1-AA game Friday night by swallowing the Dimmitt Bobcats 33-6 at Dimmitt.

Eddie Boydston, A. L. Pruett, Don Britain and Harlie Adams scored the five Eagle touchdowns and Charles Neblett kicked three of five extra points. Boydston scored twice, first on a run of one yard in the first quarter and next on a run of two yards in the third quarter.

Pruett's touchdown came toward the last of the third quarter when he climaxed a drive from the Canyon 38 yard line with a two-yard plunge to the end zone.

Both Adams and Britain scored in the second quarter. With five minutes left before the half, Adams took the ball on a crowd-thrilling race down the sidelines, stiff-arming his way across the goal line.

With 30 seconds left in the half, Britain twisted for 21 yards through the Bobcat defense to make his score.

Late in the fourth quarter, Zay Gilbreath took the ball from the Canyon 49 and raced to the end zone for the only Dimmitt score. Keith Lowe's kick was no good.

The statistics were:

Canyon		Dimmitt
15	First Downs	5
283	Rushing Yards	124
10	Passes Tried	9
4	Completed	4
3	Intercepted by	1
60	Passing Yards	66

175 Celebrate 2nd Annual Homecoming In Wayside Community Church Oct. 21

On Oct. 21, the second homecoming was held in the Wayside Community Church. Approximately 175 persons, each paying a 25 cent registration fee to help defray expenses, attended during the day, with $20 being collected.

Lem Fisher of Canyon asked the blessing for the meal spread from baskets in the basement of the church.

After eating the crowd assembled in the auditorium for the program honoring the students attending school between 1900 and 1910. Mrs. E. C. Franklin, Mrs. Melton McGehee and Mrs. Guy Watson arranged the program which included the song "Never Alone," led by Mrs. Doreen Modisette with Mrs. Watson accompanying. The invocation was given by Rev. Merle Weathers.

Henry Hamblen conducted the business meeting. New officers elected for 1957 were Henry Hamblen, president; Bill Heisler, vice president; Aline Adams, secretary-treasurer; Cora Belle Roberts, program chairman; and agents, Mrs. Bessie Lane, 1892 to 1900; Fannie Franklin, 1900 to 1910; Dewitt McGehee, 1910 to 1920; Sarah Beth Loudder, 1920 to 1930; Clifford Stevens, 1930 to 1940; Jack McGehee, 1940 to 1950; and Jimmie Adams, 1950 on.

A decision was reached by voting that each adult is to pay a door fee of 25 cents, the official name for the affair is to be Wayside Homecoming and the Wayside Church would be the permanent place of meeting.

Following the welcome address by Lem Fisher, recognition was given to the six present who attended the first school in 1892 and 1893 taught by Miss Sallie McGehee, deceased. The six were Mrs. Fay Madison Christie, Mrs. Mattie Holland Stewart, Mrs. Allie McSpadden Bradford, Miss Annie McSpadden, John Rice and Mrs. Bessie McGehee Lane.

Mrs. E. I. Boyce Sr. of Midland is spending this week with her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Patke and Shelia.

NEWS LETTER

FROM CONGRESSMAN WALTER ROGERS OF THE 18TH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT

The Drouth

Words alone are hardly adequate to describe the devastation of the drouth. On my recent trip home from Washington, I came by air to Dallas then to Amarillo. I stopped over in Dallas for two days and had an opportunity to visit some of the surrounding towns and talk to many of the people.

The view of the country from the plane as you arrive actually foretells the tragedy, but when you hear from the mouths of natives who have lived in this section of the country for many years that this is the worst drouth we have ever experienced, you then fully realize how deeply serious is the problem. The hardiest foliage in Northeast Texas is perishing for the want of a few life-giving drops of water.

But water is rationed. In those places where some is available for purposes other than human consumption, the price is prohibitive.

Several told me of water bills for one month of $60, $70 and $80. This, in a section of Texas that has usually had an ample water supply. As you move West, the situation gets worse, in so far as the drouth is concerned, but the people have had more experience with dry weather.

Underground water supplies in many of the West Texas towns have saved the day, but these have been hard pressed in these six years of drouth. Many feel that this will be the last year, and that the rains will come next year; that this winter will bring soaking snows.

In fact everyone is praying for this relief, and let us all hope it will be forthcoming. But if it does come, let us not forget what we have been through, let us not forget that unless we take immediate steps to provide ample water for the future, that in a few short years we will again face the same devastation.

At that time it could be much worse because of the continually expanding population and the demands for water, incidental thereto and associated therewith.

There has been much talk in recent years about capturing the surface water, preventing the waste of some 85% of it that flows into the ocean. However the talk has not captured much of the water. There has been a definite move in the direction of water conservation and the initiating of water projects designed to cope with the problem.

But, relatively speaking, the action has not been in keeping with the present needs and certainly not in keeping with future needs. Water is a serious business and something that should not be used as a political football, to be kicked about as circumstances might require to meet the needs of some particular political party or some particular politician, appointed or elected.

In our own Panhandle-Plains area, an answer to the water problem would provide many answers to economic and other difficulties with which many of our communities are faced. We have a splendid water potential in this area that must be developed.

There are many differences of opinion as to how this should be done, but be done, it must. And the quicker we get our heads together and work out a plan behind which we can all unite, the quicker we will be able to acquire that which we cannot do without.

Never a Dull Moment

It has often been said that there is never a dull moment in the Rogers' household. Here is an example. Just before I left Washington, Mrs. Rogers had some shopping to do downtown. She had instructed me to pick her up in the car at 4:30 sharp at the side door of one of the largest department stores.

She was on the 4th floor when she realized that 4:30 had arrived. This is the heavy traffic hour in downtown Washington. The police allow short stops, no standing.

Mrs. Rogers, not wanting me to get in trouble with the law, decided to use the stairs rather than wait for an overcrowded elevator. She did fine until she reached the ground floor and opened the door to depart. It set off the burglar alarm.

Take Note Summerfield

A friend of mine was telling me the other day about looking through his canceled checks and finding one that had been written by his wife in the amount of $150. She had dutifully inserted in the lower left hand corner "For — Stamps, etc."

The Automobile

Few people realized at the turn of the century what was in store for the American people in the way of transportation. The advent of the automobile meant little to the skeptics who were set in their ways and refused to even consider the possibility of a self-propelled buggy replacing, or even so much as seriously threatening, the horse and wagon.

However, the short span of approximately 50 years has provided results in the automotive field far beyond the fondest dreams of the motor vehicle's most ardent advocates. The history of this great industry would be too lengthy and complex to undertake in the short space of this newsletter.

Therefore, we must deal in what is happening today in this great business. It is anticipated that this country will soon have over 60,000,000 cars on its highways. This means a car for every 2½ persons in the United States.

If this many cars averaged out price-wise at $1,000 each, it would mean that American people would have invested in motor vehicles alone over 60 billions of dollars, or about one-fifth of the amount of the national debt which has now climbed to where it is approaching 280 billions of dollars.

This means that Americans are travelers and that this country is on wheels. It also means that fuel necessary to propel these wheels must be obtained from some source. There are many other incidental and related businesses, but the leaders in the business field are the manufacturers and the furnishers of fuel.

This is pointed up by a compilation of statistics that appeared in the March 31, 1956, issue of Business Week, a highly respected national publication. These statistics listed the 25 largest money making corporations for 1955, but did not include financial and banking firms.

The list was headed by an automobile manufacturer, to wit, General Motors, with a net profit of $1,189,477,000.

Next in line was a fuel producer, to wit, Standard Oil of New Jersey, with a profit of 717 millions of dollars. The telephone company was next with 664 million, followed by Ford Motor Company with 437 million. The DuPont Company was just below Ford, showing a net of 431½ million.

An interesting item is the fact that 31 per cent of the DuPont earnings come from dividends on General Motors stock holdings, according to this report. Also pointed out is the fact that GM's earnings exceed the combined total of the last 14 companies on the list.

More than half of the corporations are directly concerned with motor vehicles and their operation. Chrysler Corporation was not in the top half but was just below. It was listed as No. 18 and showed a net of $100 million.

The list included the Big Three in automobiles, GM, Ford and Chrysler. Nine oil companies, 3 steel companies, 1 aluminum company, 1 electric, 1 telephone, 1 copper, 1 nickel, 1 paper, 1 Kodak, 1 mail order, 1 carbon company and the DuPont Company which could probably take a general classification of chemical.

Of the 25 companies listed, 24 showed a marked gain over 1954 profits. The only company not showing an increase was Shell Oil. This due to the fact that the 1955 net profits did not include non-recurring profits.

Six of the companies showed gains of more than 50 per cent. Chrysler led in this division, showing a gain of 440.4 per cent. GM was also the No. 1 money maker in 1954 with earnings of some 800 million. It showed an increase of 47.6 per cent for 1955.

The total earnings of the 25 companies exceed 6½ billions of dollars.

There is a dark side to the picture, however, that will get darker as more vehicles move on the highways. The death toll is now approaching 40,000 each year, the maimed and injured are numbered close to a million. Property loss and damage run into the millions.

America must stay on wheels, but it cannot continue to pay this tragic price. Much progress is being made in research and development of better cars, better highways and better traffic rules and regulations, but the number one key to a measurable reduction in the casualty rate is the driver of each motor vehicle. Application of the Golden Rule would do wonders.

State Capitol NEWS

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

Gov. Allan Shivers again is heading the ranks of Texas for Ike. After killing a 1,000-pound bear in Alaska, the governor came home gunning for Adlai Stevenson.

Shivers is to make three out-of-state speeches for Eisenhower this week. He said he is ready to make more "any time, any place." He criticized scheduled appearances in Texas of out-of-state U. S. senators who voted against the tidelands bill.

In reply Sen. Lyndon Johnson said that the Governor was "being discourteous and insulting" to visitors to Texas. "The tidelands issue," he said, "is as dead as Allan Shivers."

Special Election Dangles

Campaigners for Price Daniel's U. S. Senate seat are in for more tortuous waiting.

Governor Shivers has said he will have no announcement on calling an election until after Nov. 6. A special senate election, he added, "has no place being mixed up with a presidential election."

Election Invalidated

Local option elections held in an area less than a justice precinct are illegal, say the courts.

Texas Supreme Court has upheld a Civil Appeals Court decision to this effect. As a result, a section of Austin considered "dry" since 1935, is now legally "wet."

Local option elections, said the appellate court, can be held only county-wide, city-wide or in an entire justice precinct.

State Growth Foreseen

Texas' need for state office space will be tripled by 1980.

So say planning consultants for the state building program. They estimate that Austin alone will have some 11,500 state employees 24 years hence. Statewide the total is set at 24,000 to 30,000.

Planners say the 200,933 sq. ft. of floor space in the Capitol should be augmented to make a total of 1,720,000 square feet. To accomplish this, four new office buildings would be built. Capitol grounds would be extended north six blocks to 19th Street.

"Broad estimate" of the cost: $87,000,000. Another recommendation in the recently completed Capitol area master plan is to sell or abandon four older state-owned buildings dotted over Austin.

Gas Test Case Set

Whether the state should refund some $4,000,000 in natural gas taxes will be considered by the Third Court of Civil Appeals on Feb. 6.

District court ruled for the gas company in the test case. An issue is whether some 30 companies who paid taxes, without protest, can get their money back.

Companies which paid under protest were repaid shortly after the law was declared unconstitutional.

Alcoholics Increase

A sharp rise in alcoholism among Texans during 1956 is indicated.

Twice as many patients have been admitted to alcoholic wards this year as last, reports the State Hospital Board. Total number of alcoholics in the state is estimated at 155,100. This is almost twice the 1940 estimate of 83,304, represents about 3 per cent of total population.

Farm Income Up

Texas cash farm income for 1956 is running slightly higher than 1955, despite the drouth.

But, according to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research, the figures reflect desperation, not prosperity.

High income, it is explained, comes from sale of production materials, such as breeding stock. Specialists compare it to the situation of a factory which keeps income up by selling its machinery.

Total through August was $927,000,000, compared to $925,000,000 a year ago.

School Trustees Confer

Texas school board members talked all around their integration problems, finally settled on a resolution urging each district to approach the question with "dignity."

Only one dissenting vote was heard among the some 200 attending the Texas Association of School Boards convention in Austin.

One speaker declared integration should be handled strictly on a local basis. Another deplored that school boards have been made the "goats" in the controversy.

★ ★ ★

Texas' drought relief program is in high gear again. President Eisenhower announced a double-barreled shot in the arm for cattlemen's feed buying projects.

Grain subsidies were increased from $1 to $1.50 per hundredweight and the aid period extended 60 days to Dec. 31.

An additional $5,000,000 was allocated to the hay and roughage buying program. This had been stalled for nearly a month after the original $1,000,000 grant ran out. Certificates good for a $7.50 per ton subsidy are again available to eligible livestock owners through the Farmers Home Administration.

To increase effectiveness of this project, officials said western railroads agreed to make a 50 per cent reduction in freight rates on carload lots of hay sent to drought areas. Reductions were to take effect this past weekend.

Both parties lost no time in making political hay with the new farm assistance. GOP National Committeeman Jack Porter said, "This will help greatly to win Texas for the Republicans."

State Agriculture Commr. John White, a staunch Democrat, expressed gratitude, "regardless of the political aspects." But, he pointed out, help needed several months ago didn't come until just before the election.

Both Parties Woo Texas

Both sides are rolling out heavy artillery in one of the most feverish campaigns for Texas' electoral votes in presidential campaign history.

Democrats will have an all-star cast of seven U. S. Senators stumping the state from now until Nov. 6. They are Sens. Stuart Symington, Missouri; Michael Mansfield, Montana; Russell B. Long, Louisiana; John Kennedy, Massachusetts; Albert Gore, Tennessee; Robert S. Kerr and Mike Monroney, Oklahoma.

In addition, Texas' own top Democratic brass, Sen. Lyndon Johnson, Speaker Sam Rayburn and Governor-Nominee Price Daniel, will be in the field.

For the Republicans, Vice President Richard Nixon made a second visit and termed the Texas race "neck and neck." But, he contended, Eisenhower represents Texas Democrats' views better than Stevenson.

Each party had a "big event" within days of each other. Republicans saluted Texas-born Ike with a statewide birthday party Saturday. Democrats, hard-pressed for operating funds, slated doorbell ringing on "Dollars for Democrats Day" Tuesday.

Polio Funds Unused

Texas stands to lose some $2,00,000 in federal funds unless polio vaccination is greatly stepped up in the next eight months.

State Department of Health officials said Texas so far has spent only $540,000 of the $3,064,124 allocated. If not used by June 30, 1957, funds will revert back to the U. S. Public Health Service. At the present rate of inoculation, say officials, a sizable portion will be left over.

In urging more widespread vaccination, they cited statistics. Polio deaths dropped to zero among persons having the prescribed series of three shots.

Harrison County obliterated paralytic polio in its population this year by mass inoculation of its 7,600 school children. First project of its kind in Texas, it was without cost to the children. County-wide cooperation of doctors, nurses, teachers and bus drivers made it possible.

School Investments Outlined

Texas' permanent school fund now totals more than $335,000,000. It's the largest of its kind in the U. S.

Annual income to public schools is about $9,000,000, the State Board of Education has been advised by its investment counselor.

Two-thirds of the fund is invested in the U. S. Government, the remaining $125,000,000 in Texas. In-state investments include $92,000,000 lent to school districts, $8,000,000 to cities, $21,000,000 to counties.

'New Look' in Licenses

Next year for the first time since 1932 Texans will have black and white license plates on their cars. Letters will be black, backgrounds white.

State Highway Department said it is bowing to public insistence. Black and orange plates didn't blend with today's auto color schemes.

New tags also will be dressed up with a "lone star" between the prefix letters and the numbers.

Texas Prison System is producing some 4,00,000 pairs of plates and 392,000 single plates. They go on sale Feb. 1.

Expenses Up, Income Down

Texas government spent $11,000,444 more than it took in during September, according to Comptroller Robert S. Calvert.

Expenditures totaled more than $70,000,000, and revenue receipts came to only $59,000,000. A net cash balance of $32,671,870 was left in the general revenue fund.

Last year September was much better. Expenditures were $63,000,000; revenue, $69,000,000.

Short Snorts

U. S. Dept. of Agriculture's October survey estimates Texas sorghum grain harvest for 1956 at 93,480,000 bushels, corn at 25,528,000 bushels. Other state crop forecasts: rice, 10,891,000 (100 lb.) bags; oranges, 2,300,000 boxes; grapefruit, 3,500,000 boxes.

Fall opening of the Texas School for the Deaf has been delayed a second time by the $2,500,000 construction project on the campus. Previous opening day was Oct. 15. Now completion of 19 new cottages and two class buildings is not expected until sometime in November.

Two new medieal and surgical buildings being added to the Texas State Hospital System are said to be among the nation's best. Washington experts inspected the new unit at Austin State Hospital and plans for a similar one at San Antonio. They termed both outstanding for beauty, economy and effective patient care.

Texas schools received nearly $84,000,000 in federal funds last year, according to the U. S. Office of Education. Texas' share was the second largest in the nation.

Payments to Texas farmers under the 1956 soil bank program have hit $7,852,242, says the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture.

FARMERS
LOOK AT THE RECORD

The DEMOCRATS had 20 YEARS to solve the farm problem.
WE STILL HAVE A FARM PROBLEM.

What have the REPUBLICANS done in 4 SHORT YEARS?

Surpluses Have Been Reduced

1. Virtually all of the surplus COTTON SEED OIL stocks have been moved into use. The accumulation reached 1,186,000,000 pounds in 1954. ALL GOVERNMENT OWNED PROTEIN MEALS HAVE BEEN SOLD.
2. During the first three years of the Eisenhower Administration, 54,000,000 BAGS OF RICE WERE TAKEN OVER by the government UNDER THE HOLD-OVER DEMOCRAT FARM PROGRAM in effect until the 1955 crop. Today, ALL GOVERNMENT OWNED STOCKS OF RICE ARE SOLD OR COMMITTED and await delivery.

Foreign Markets Are Being Expanded

1. During the year ended June 30, 1955, shipments of farm products for foreign countries were 7% HIGHER than in 1953-54 and 11% HIGHER than in 1952-53.
2. For the first ten months of the last fiscal year FARM EXPORTS WERE UP ANOTHER 9% over the similar period a year earlier.
3. U. S. rice exports for the period August 1955-March 1956 has increased over the same period for 1954-55 by 1,651,000 bags in total world exports.

Agricultural Research Increased

1. Agricultural Research budget INCREASED $1,984,000 in the four years prior to 1953, UNDER DEMOCRATS.
2. Research to aid farmers INCREASED $45,795,000 in the past four years UNDER REPUBLICANS.

LIPSTICK LOGIC
BY LOUISE ALLEN

Somebody's gotta write a book. About grandmothers. Because any resemblance between today's grandmother and the traditional one is purely coincidental.

We heard some of them talking the other night. One was pretty worn down. She had kept little Mary for 36 hours while her parents went to a football game. It had been an active weekend. Another had her grandson overnight: "And do you know what? He woke up at 6 and wanted to ride his kiddie kar outside. I took him!" Another said her grandson got out of bed begging for birthday cake and got it — for breakfast.

In our day, Grandmother was someone to respect if not fear. We had to be quiet at Grandmother's, not "meddle" and never, never be bad.

We've often wondered what makes grandparents such easy marks for second generation children. Do they have a bad conscience about having been stern with their own cherubs? Or are they deliberately selfish in spoiling Junior so he'll be sure and love them as much as he does his own parents?

Young couples with no background of experience in discipline may be unduly stern with their youngsters — even as their own parents were with them. But they've got a day-in-day-out assignment, and living with a spoiled brat isn't nearly as entertaining as playing with one for three or four hours, then when he gets tiresome calling daughter to come take the little one home.

Today's grandmother has a job on her hands all right. She wants her own children to feel free to call on her at any time, but if she succeeds they're likely to impose. Then she has no life of her own. Yes, somebody's gotta write a book!

Most of us lead more than one life. We were reminded of this the other day as we watched a woman across the lunch table.

We had known her for three years, but only through her job. If asked to describe her, we probably would have said: "She seems to be very efficient; and pleasant. And she's nice-looking, too." Beyond that, we wouldn't have had much to say.

But on this day she sat between two personal friends and they chatted gaily about clothes, hats, fall colors, and other such feminine topics. Her face soft and smiling, she was the most vital person at the table. Actually pretty, too. Not long after that, we watched her as she talked about her brother overseas, in the setting of a family we did not know. She was still another person then.

The many-sided self of today's woman no doubt is the product of the complex society in which she lives. Few of us consciously throw up barriers between our real selves and the people we meet. But the spouse's boss and his wife will probably never know us as our coffee-time neighbor does. Newly made friends will see the person we have become, but let a girlhood friend come to town and we slip back into being the person we used to be.

We plan to take an inventory soon, make a check list of the different persons we are. We'll try to find out who knows the best "we" the family, or members of our club; acquaintances in the church, or the young people we teach; saleswomen who wait on us or the stranger who wants to buy the same bargain. Then we'll do what we can about bringing all the other selves up to par.

Every woman honestly believes she's not easily 'taken in.'

Contrary to her spouse's opinion, she is NOT a sucker for door-to-door salesmen! She may pay 50 cents for a celluloid comb that isn't fit to groom Shep with — but the poor old fellow did need the money. And perhaps she selects a box of greeting cards she'd never even glance at in a store — because the little girl who rang the doorbell had such serious brown eyes! But she's no sucker — he should see the things she doesn't buy!

She's certain she drives a better bargain with the butcher than the spouse can; that she's never fooled by sleazy dress goods; that the yard man will take the job cheaper if she does the talking.

There's only one line she's sure to fall for — and that's the contest with a grand prize. Whether it's a national or a local competition, conducted by a flour merchant, an oil company, a utilities firm or an automobile manufacturer; whatever the odds, or the assignment she has to do, she gets dazzled by the Grand Prize and is absolutely certain she'll win!

If she doesn't really want the big pay-off, it troubles her only briefly. She looks over the vast array of second, third and fourth prizes, and reasons — quite logically — "I may not win first anyway." So she writes the jingle, collects the box tops, locates the hidden heads in the picture; then she sits back, confidently waiting for the wire that will tell her she has won a trip to Bermuda, a pale blue limousine, a complete new kitchen, or a double-barrel shotgun. By the time she realizes she didn't place, another contest is underway and she's off on another dream trip to fortune and fame.

TELEPHONE TALK

by W. L. Leavy, Manager

If you've called our telephone office lately after hours, you've probably talked with our new assistant.

No, it is not another person working in the office. It's an automatic answering set that has been installed and is operated when Mrs. Brazil and Mrs. Bumgarner must be out of the office.

We are enthusiastically recommending these answering sets for local business customers who can't have some one at the telephone all of the time. So it's only logical that we use the service ourselves.

COLOR COMES TO TELEPHONES

"What is your favorite color?" is often a popular topic of conversation among school children.

When girls are talking about Susie's new dress, or boys get together to comment - sometimes critically - on a new jacket in the crowd, everybody has a special color — the one they like best.

Mostly it's blue or red. But again, it might be green or yellow, or any of the other colors of the rainbow.

Well, color has become a popular subject at the telephone company—namely, the new color of telephones.

We can't boast having telephones in every color of the rainbow, but we do have them in eight, bright beautiful colors. You can choose from ivory, beige, red, brown, green, grey, yellow and blue.

Color telephons brighten up your home by blending or contrasting with the color schemes. They add smartness to an office or store, too.

The cost is $10 for the set, plus a one-time installation charge of $1.75, for a telephone in your favorite color. And if you order a color set as an extension for more conveneince, just add the regular monthly extension rate of $.75 to the one-time charges. Call the telephone company today to order a color telephone. You'll be glad you did.

Good Fall Care Helps Spring Lawn

COLLEGE STATION—The appearance a lawn has next spring may well depend upon the care given it during the fall season. E. M. Trew, extension agronomist, says beautiful lawns just don't happen, they require careful and considerate management.

Soon they should be fertilized. Do this job, says Trew, about 30 days before the first expected frost. By making application early, the grass will have an opportunity to use most of the plant food before going dormant.

Too, the fertilizer will allow lawn grasses to go into the winter season in a vigorous condition and they will remain green longer in the fall and grow off earlier next spring. Weeds, during the winter and spring, will also cause less trouble.

Trew suggests using a complete fertilizer with a 2-1-1 or a 1-1-1 ratio applied at a rate to give two pounds of actual nitrogen for each 1,000 square feet of lawn. This amount of nitrogen can be supplied by using 20 pounds of 10-5-5 or 10-10-10 or 25 pounds of 8-8-8.

Some soils do not need potash for crop production but since the cost is small, Trew believes the results may be very good.

He advises halving the fertilizer. Apply one-half and then distribute the other half at right angles to the first application. This will insure even distribution.

The lawn should be watered after the application. Soak the soil to a depth of at least six inches. If the soil is wet when the fertilizer is applied, wash it off the grass onto the soil.

Moisture is necessary for plants can not use the food until it is dissolved.

In some sections of the state, Trew says that Bermuda lawns are sometimes overseeded with Italian or annual ryegrass to give color during the winter. But, he warns, unless the rye grass is closely clipped during the spring, it may prove harmful to the Bermuda.

It competes with the Bermuda for light, moisture and plant food. He says to use the Italian or annual ryegrass because it dies in the spring.

A record use of cotton is predicted for this season.

Mr. and Mrs.. R. V. Pennington and Phil accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Lamont Waldrip and daughter and visited Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Pennington Jr. in Fresno, Calif., last week. They also visited the Grand Canyon, Petrified Forest, Hoover Dam, Painted Desert and the Underground Gardens.

Plentiful Foods List Just Right For Bountiful Thanksgiving Feed

COLLEGE STATION—A bountiful Thanksgiving feast can easily be prepared from the U. S. Department of Agriculture's November plentiful foods list.

Supplies of turkeys, pork and potatoes are so large that USDA is urging the food trades to give extra emphasis to them.

Other meats, in addition to the Thanksgiving turkey, include beef, broilers and fryers as well as lamb and frozen haddock and ocean perch fillets.

Also on the plentiful list are eggs, milk and other dairy products, rice and peanut butter.

Fruits and vegetables include such holiday favorites as cranberries, pears, dates, potatoes, cauliflower, cabbage and pinto beans.

The plentiful foods list is based on a USDA survey of actual supplies available in the major trade areas of the state.

Ronnie Gazzaway In FFA Chapter

Ronnie Gazzaway of Canyon is a "green hand" at Boys Ranch near Tascosa.

This is what the boys call the new members in their FFA Chapter. Ronnie is one of the 15 boys elected to the chapter this year.

These youngsters are particularly interested in the stock at the Ranch and they raise most of the beef and pork consumed by the 220 boys. This year for the first time a few sheep have been added to the projects.

Every boy is given a choice between raising and caring for a sow, lamb, calf or breeder pigs. They keep records of the cost of feeding and caring for the animals and then they earn a percentage of the profits.

In connection with the vocational program and their regular school work, the boys learn how to repair farm equipment and also study some welding, carpentry and other things that would be useful in running or working on a farm.

The cowhands are very proud of their stock and many of them will follow farming and ranching as a trade after they finish school at Boys Ranch.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION
THE STATE OF TEXAS

TO: All unknown and unnamed nieces and nephews that are living and if they, or any of them, are deceased, the heirs and legal representatives of such unknown and unnamed nieces and nephews under the will of Sallie R. McCormick, Deceased, Defendants, Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to appear before the Honorable 47th Judicial District Court of Randall County at the Court House thereof, in Canyon, Texas, at or before 10 o'clock A.M. of the first Monday next after the expiration of forty-two days from the date of the issuance of this citation, same being the 19th day of November A.D. 1956, then and there to answer Plaintiff's Petition filed in said Court, on the 1st day of October A.D. 1956, in this cause, numbered 3213 on the docket of said court and styled Frank M. Ham, Plaintiff, vs. Cleo G. Clayton, Sr., Executor of the Estate of Sallie R. McCormick, Deceased, and all unknown and unnamed nieces and nephews that are living and if they, or any of them, are deceased, the heirs and legal representatives of such unknown and unnamed nieces and nephews, under the will of Sallie R. McCormick, Deceased, Defendants.

A brief statement of the nature of this suit is as follows, to wit: This suit being for the construction of the Will of Sallie R. McCormick, Deceased, dated on or about June 28, 1952, and admitted to probate in the County Court of Randall County, Texas, in Cause No. 775, on October 14, 1952; plaintiff Frank M. Ham claiming in his suit, that all of the unknown and unnamed nieces and nephews under the will of Sallie R. McCormick, Deceased, if living, and all the heirs and legal representatives of such that are deceased, took no interest under the will of Sallie R. McCormick, Deceased, in the North half of Section 149, Block 2, A.B.&M. Survey, in Randall County, Texas, and that he acquired fee simple title to same from all of the named devisees and legatees named in said will, by deed from them dated June 3, 1954, and of record in Volume 12 at Page 277 of the Deed Records of Randall County, Texas, and that the above named defendants and all of them, had no interest of whatsoever nature in said property, all of which is more fully shown in plaintiff's original petition on file in this suit.

The officer executing this process shall promptly execute the same according to law, and make due return as the law directs.

Issued and given under my hand and the Seal of said Court, at office in Canyon, Texas, this the 3rd day of October A. D. 1956.

There ought to be a law against shooting in cafes and other public places. If a man wants to shoot his wife or if a wife wants to shoot her husband, that is a personal matter but why should 75 complete strangers be brought into the act?

There is a time and there is a place for everything under the sun, said the prophet of old—but a crowded hotel lobby or a railroad waiting room is scarcely the place for a promiscuous spraying of bullets which, like the rain, can strike the just as well as the unjust.

If there were an automatic jail sentence of six months for such unseemly conduct, who knows?—human life might become a little safer.

Can you remember when drug stores used their front windows solely to display large bottles of a red liquid, one big bottle in each window?

Or maybe the bottles didn't contain anything but were just colored red.

The drugstore in Piggott, Ark., used to have a row of good-sized bottles on the counter and a friend of the druggist would come in every day and, removing the stopper, take a whiff of the contents of one bottle—which contained perfume. But one day someone switched bottles and he took a deep breath of spirits of ammonia and was knocked cold.

Odd thing about ammonia, it will make a conscious man unconscious. But it will make an unconscious man conscious. Like beer is claimed to do—warm you in winter, cool you in summer. (W.C.T.U. members please note the words, "is claimed to do.")

When I was a cub reporter on the police run, officers used to pick up drunks who were in a stupor, bring them to headquarters and thrust a bottle of ammonia under the nose. One sniff and a drunk would wiggle; two sniffs, and he really came to life.

Very amusing to all—except, possibly, the drunk.

Mrs. J. C. Dowd and Bob visited in Godley, Texas, last week. They met Mrs. Bob Dowd at Waco where they attended the Baylor-A&M game Saturday. Mrs. Bob Dowd had been visiting downstate for some time.
